Dear Hiring Manager,

I'm reaching out to express my interest in a remote opportunity with your company. With 14 years of hands-on experience in fast-paced, people-focused environments, I bring a strong work ethic, attention to detail, and a genuine eagerness to gain professional experience beyond my current role. Now, as a junior at Southern New Hampshire University pursuing a degree in Graphic Design—and maintaining a 4.0 GPA—I'm ready to apply what I've been learning in a remote, professional setting.

Returning to school at 30 was a big step that pushed me to grow. I've learned to balance full-time work with a fully virtual academic schedule, strengthening my time management, focus, and ability to work independently. My coursework has equipped me with skills in Adobe Creative Cloud, digital communication, and project organization—tools I'm eager to put to use in the real world.

I'm excited to build on my remote learning experience by taking on new professional challenges that allow me to work independently while collaborating effectively when needed. I'm motivated to grow my skills and contribute in a way that supports both my development and the success of your team.

Thank you for considering my application. I would love the opportunity to connect and discuss how I can support your team while continuing to grow professionally.

Best Regards,

DeeDee Gregory
